TCL Plastics Statement for Coronavirus Planning.

March 10th 2020

We continue to closely monitor developments with respect to the Coronavirus (COVID-19).

TCL have already taken steps to ensure the safety and wellness of our employees including travel restrictions (both internationally and domestically), reviewing business continuity plans, prudently evaluating the need and attendance at group gatherings and working to implement visitor guidelines for those coming to our location.

We have a defined course of actions to determine the appropriate measures which should be taken during this event.

As you are aware, the entire global supply chain has been impacted due to the coronavirus outbreak, which has led to large-scale disruption in marine container shipping services.

TCL expects that the impact to shipping will result in a reduction of delivery reliability, route frequency and availability in the short to mid-term.

We have NOT been impacted by any manufacturing or supply disruption at this point and are constantly monitoring the situation.

We realize this situation remains very dynamic. We will continue to provide updates as we learn more. We are confident in our preparation and contingency planning for situations such as this.

TCL remain committed to providing the superior service and support that our customers have come to expect of our company throughout this situation.
